

SchaumburgReview

Authorfest comes to Schaumburg

June 21, 2007

More than 50 authors are scheduled to appear at Gotta Write Network's Third Annual Authorfest held Saturday at the Schaumburg Township District Library.

The event takes place from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the library's main branch, 130 S. Roselle Road in Schaumburg.

Throughout the day, there will be panel discussions moderated by Gotta Write Network's Web site owner Denise Fleischer and other local authors. Panels include: How to Create An Unforgettable Romance, Murder 101, The Scoop on Promotion, Professionals Tell It Like It Is, as well as a Children's and Young Adult panels.

No registration is necessary. All panel discussions are opened to readers, beginning writers and authors.

Meet Avon romance authors Melody Thomas and Jenna Peterson; Echelon Press author and Golden Heart finalist Kelle Z. Riley; romantic thriller author Rosemarie Piemonte; children's author Arlene Erlbach; mystery authors J.A. Konrath, Todd Stone, Luisa Buehler and Mary Welk; and Darren Callahan, who has written drama for the BBC, The Sci Fi Channel and New York City's Radio Pacifica; and many others attending the festival. Books will be sold before and after panels and from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. The public will be able to get their purchases autographed throughout the day.

Additional information is available at www.gottawritenetwork.com. Gotta Write Network is a promotional Web site for both small and big press authors. Log on today to read reviews and interviews.